WHY I JOINED?

It isn't very often that you're presented with the opportunity to advocate for a subject that is talked about far too less without fear of judgment. When presented with the chance to apply, I knew I had to. I grew up in a household where mental health was viewed as secondary, and over the years, I realized that it was quite the opposite.

WHY I JOINED?

I was inspired by W2BW initiatives to educate others across the country about mental health and wellness and to de-stigmatize the conversation. I wanted to collaborate with intelligent, driven students and adults from across the country to reach a common goal of recognizing mental health issues and how to best combat them.
